FRANCE LOOKS FOR ALLIANCE OPPOSING NEW FASCIST BLOCK

Anxious to Form Military Assistance Pacts With Great Britain and Belgium—Naval Council Recommends Increased Construction Over Term of Years—Sticks to Spanish Policy

PARIS, Nov. 30 (AP)—France, looking at a rearméd Germany on her border and at spreading Italian influence in the Balkans beyond, today sought a three-power alliance against the Fascist European bloc.

Specifically France strove to line up with Great Britain in mutual military assistance pacts if either should be attacked. In addition, the French plan to extend the same offer to Belgium, informed sources said.

TO INCREASE NAVY
Carrying out France's announced determination to build her defenses to meet attack from any quarter, the Superior Naval Council recommended increased naval construction over a period of years, "in principle," but made public no figures.

The government will take its life on the Spanish "non-interference" stand, informed sources said, and will resist unless all units of the Popular Front Government approve that policy.

In the ever-shifting network of European and Asiatic alliances growing out of the battle between Socialism-Communism and Fascism in Spain, France already has bound herself in a mutual assistance pact with Russia as a primary bulwark against Reichsfuehrer Hitler's estimated 800,000 armed men.

TOKIO, Dec. 1 (AP)—An attempt to assassinate Premier Koki Hirota was frustrated today when police arrested a suspicious-looking man armed with dynamite and a spearhead ground to razor sharpness.

Police said the suspect, Ko Watanabe, thirty-six, confessed he had been seeking a chance to kill Hirota for three days. He said he sought revenge because of his man-servant's petition to the premier allegedly exposing a case of graft in his home province, Fukushima.

When he was arrested, sitting on a bench in a park, Watanabe had with him petitions addressed to five other cabinet members and letters of farewell to his family.

Police said they could find no political backing for Watanabe and believed he was deranged.

ORGANIZATION TO DROP OUT OF B.C. FIELD

Recently Launched British Columbia Social Credit Union to Disband

GROUP WAS FORMED AT ABERHART'S REQUEST

VANCOUVER, Nov. 30 (P).—The British Columbia Social Credit Union, recently launched with Premier Aberhart, of Alberta, named as general chairman, announced today it would withdraw from the British Columbia political field.

John L. Loveseth, executive secretary, has resigned, and the office will be closed following announcement Friday that another Social Credit body, the British Columbia Social Credit League, had selected eleven candidates for the next provincial general election, and would nominate for all forty-eight seats. The Union statement said, in part:

"On September 2, 1936, Premier Aberhart asked Mr. Loveseth, as his designated personal representative, to call a number of people into conference with him for the purpose of forming a Social Credit organization in British Columbia, which would endeavor to co-ordinate the Social Credit forces in British Columbia into one unified body that would act under Premier Aberhart's direction and leadership.

OFFICE ESTABLISHED
"This was done, Mr. Loveseth being named by the Premier as provincial executive secretary and the Premier's personal representative. They established a provincial service office for the Social Credit movement of British Columbia.

"Mr. Loveseth believes that in view of the action taken by other Social Credit bodies, it is inadvisable and not in the best interests of the Social Credit movement to continue his endeavors to obtain co-operation in this province with Premier Aberhart's policies."

"The Social Credit League does not follow the leadership of any particular person.

LOOKS FOR ALLIANCE OPPOSING FASCISTS

The developments as they affect Great Britain under the French security plan were hinted at both by France's and Great Britain's Foreign Secretaries.

Delbos recently said informally: "If Britain is ready to aid us in the case of unprovoked aggression, we are ready to help her in the same circumstances."

Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, at a luncheon last Friday honoring Premier Paul Van Zeeland, of Belgium, said "Belgium can count on our help were she a victim of unprovoked aggression."

Following repeated Communist attacks on the Soviet Union, Blum's refusal to reverse his Spanish neutrality policy, Maurice Thorez, Communist Secretary-General, indicated his party might desert Blum altogether.

The most conservative supporters of Blum's regime weighed the possibility of so-called "centrists," or middle-of-the-road liberals, replacing the Communists if Thorez should make good his threat.

Other parliamentary observers, meanwhile, watched to see if the Communist threat might not act as a boomerang and result in increased support of Blum from other sections of his Government.

Still adding to the perplexities of the Blum Government were the spreading strikes, especially those involving the metallurgical workers.

Julius Jeanneney, President of the Senate, was reported to have told Blum he must prevent these strikes because the inactive metal plants were delaying the increased national defence preparations.

MAYOR HEARD ON REFUNDING

Declares Only Salvation of Victoria Is Adoption of Henley Scheme

Unless Toronto and London bondholders agree to the city's refunding programme, Victoria will be in the hands of the receivers in 1937, Mayor David Leeming told members of the Victoria City Club at luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel. His Worship, however, said that it was more than likely bondholders would ratify the scheme.

In his address, Mayor Leeming reviewed the financial set-up of the city from 1921 until the present, and showed that the city's only problem was that of finance. He declared that Canadians and British Columbians would not be governed by economics, but preferred booms. These, he continued, were destructive in the end, and the sooner Victoria would be able to get out of its present dilemma, the better.

BORROWED TO HILT

The Mayor reviewed the expenditure and income of the city during the past six years, and explained how it became necessary to borrow from the sinking funds to such a large extent. At this time, Mayor Leeming said, Victoria had borrowed the limit from sinking funds, and had had further credit from the banks refused.

The position of the city, although gloomy, was not without hope, since London executives and Toronto and New York bondholders had agreed the city's problem needed adjustment and the scheme advanced was not impossible.

The Mayor declared he expected an approval on the refunding plan before the end of the year, or possibly early in January.

A curate, leaving his parish, was the recipient of many presents. One lady sent him a bottle of cherries preserved in old brandy. "Dear Madam," wrote the curate. "I appreciate very much your handsome gift of cherries, but I appreciate even more the spirit in which it was sent."

The first birds, which developed from the flying reptiles, all possessed teeth. As they progressed into the later stages of bird evolution, the teeth were lost and there are now no living birds with teeth.

Change in Family Important Aspect Of Social Trends

Professor C. W. Topping, of Department of Economics, U.B.C., Addresses University Extension Audience at Girls' Central School Auditorium

FROM the fourfold aspect of the family, business, government and religion, Professor C. W. Topping, of the Department of Economics of the University of British Columbia, last night, at a well-attended University Extension lecture, reviewed in a masterly manner "Social Trends of the Last Quarter of a Century."

Although the lecture was one of the series on the Georgian Period, 1910-1936, Professor Topping confirmed himself almost completely to conditions in Canada and the United States, understanding that other speakers would deal with the conditions in the Old Land and elsewhere. He therefore used United States and Canadian sources of information, and his comparative statistics were almost completely confined to these two countries, and because he was more interested in the family than in any of the other social groups he devoted more time to it than to others.

RECENT TRENDS

Social trends in the United States had been traced by a group of em-

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Raring to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of bile daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up, your stomachs, you get constipated. Bile flows on into the body and you feel queer. Sick and the world looks queer.

A new bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no catalyst of mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. Bile.

Recent Gains in American Civilization

From the latter he drew some of the very interesting vital statistics quoted in connection with his discussion of "The Family." These had to do with marriage, birth rate, and divorce.

"The birth rate in British Columbia is decreasing, and is one of the lowest in the world," it was noted.

Marriage statistics for Canada showed the following: For 1934, 6.8 per thousand; Quebec and British Columbia fell behind this Dominion average percentage with 6.0 and 6.6, respectively. In 1920, the rate was 9.4. A high modern rate would be such as that in the Ukraine, where the figure was 11.4 per thousand.

BIRTH RATE

The birth rate for Canada was 20.5 per thousand; for Quebec, 25.3; for British Columbia, 13.6; for France, 16.3; for the United States, 16.6; England and Wales, 14.4; Russia, 24.8.

A comparison of the divorce statistics were given: For 1911, Canada 57; British Columbia 19; for 1935, Canada 1,376; British Columbia 384.

"British Columbia alone in 1935 had almost seven times as many as all of Canada at the beginning of the twenty-five year period," it was noted. Divorced persons constituted .02 of the population of Canada in 1911 and .06 of the population in 1931.

The old paternal type of family, where the father was the head, was disappearing, and the "emancipated" family, a type which lived in apartments, had no children, husbands and wife alike holding jobs, was taking its place. This was the type of family that tended to break up. The "egalitarian" type of family, living in little houses of their own, with "less than two children," where the children had a status, was the kind that survived best.

Abbess Was Executive Of Ability

Rev. Mother Mary Frances Louise, Abbess of the Monastery of Poor Clare Nuns, and widely known as a woman of outstanding executive ability and deep human sympathy, passed away on Saturday following a short illness.

The Reverend Abbess was peculiarly adapted to the life of a religious, leaving a position in which she was eminently successful to enter the Poor Clare's community twenty years ago. She had been a member of the community but a short time before she was promoted to the office of abbess, in which she had shown distinguished gifts for organization and administration. She had also endeared herself by her kindly ministrations, to a wide circle of the community, particularly in the Willows district.

Last evening at 8 o'clock special prayers were said in the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes at the Willows for the repose of her soul, and this morning at 9 o'clock solemn Requiem High Mass will be sung in the church, following which the remains will be laid at rest in Rose Bay Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Sands Mortuary, Limited.

TWO MORE IN CIVIC RACE

Alderman Archie Wills and W. H. Davies Enter Election Contest

ALDERMAN ARCHIE WILLS

Alderman Archie Wills, who is completing his first term on the City Council, announced yesterday he would seek re-election. William Hodgson Davies, financial agent, 619 Coventry Street, also declared he would seek election for a two-year term. Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, whose term also expires, declined to state his plans. He is expected to make a statement today.

Ald. Wills has been active on a number of committees in the council and pressed for action on two important questions. He asked that a special committee be appointed to consider the franchise of the B.C. Electric Railway Company. The council failed to agree to him the first time, but he introduced it, but the second time he appealed for the committee it went through unanimously. Mayor Leeming named Ald. Wills as chairman, and at a meeting recently the alderman presented a lengthy report on his investigations.

GREATER VICTORIA

Ald. Wills' advocacy of consideration of a Greater Victoria resulted in a new committee being struck of which he was named chairman. After eighteen months' investigation the committee held a joint meeting with representatives of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt and a new inter-municipal committee was appointed to consider the matter, pertaining to the four bodies. Ald. Wills presented to the meeting the results of the committee's investigations, endeavoring to enlist aid by the municipalities for certain services rendered by the city.

Ald. Wills also serves on the lands, electrical and industrial committees, being chairman of the last named group.

He has criticized many schemes presented to the council but admits that he has done this in order that the city might get better deals. He has always fought for the best terms possible.

W. H. DAVIES

Mr. Davies was proposed by L. H. Stanley, 306 Edward Street, and seconded by J. Smith, 1317 Arm Street. Mr. Davies supports council activity to interest more home owners in the Federal housing modernization plan, which he believes would improve property and check the tide of refugees.

He advocates meetings with businessmen, merchants and agencies to discuss methods of halting the flow of home owners from the city to outside municipalities, and supports a campaign to put reverted property back on the tax lists.

Mr. Davies is inclined to favor a policy which would permit departmental heads to conduct a greater share of the city's business, with aldermen acting in the form of a business directorate. He supports a civil beautification scheme and suggests special entertainment aimed to keep visitors here for longer periods.

MORE CO-OPERATION

He thinks there should be more co-operation with Provincial Government experts on the city's financial affairs. Questions affecting ratepayers' pockets, Mr. Davies contends, should be submitted to referendum.

Others filing papers at the City Hall yesterday were Mrs. Alice Emily McGregor, 1190 Canrose Crescent, for a two-year term; term. She was proposed by J. G. Simpson, 1326 Franklin Terrace, and seconded by Agnes W. Bennett, 63 Linden Avenue. William Thomas Strath, barrister, 1524 Gladstone Avenue, seeks election to the School Board for a one-year term. He was proposed by B. S. Heisterman, 608 Viceroy Street, and seconded by Walter M. Walker, 1423 Douglas Street. William Charles Moreby, K.C., barrister, 624 Trutch Street, filed papers for a two-year School Board term. He was proposed by James Forman, 1009 Terrace Avenue, and seconded by Charles Heisterman, 915 St. Charles Street.

MAJOR SPURGIN LAID AT REST

Big Congregation Attends Funeral Services for Architect and Soldier

St. Matthias' Church, Poul Bay, was crowded yesterday afternoon for the funeral rites for Major Karl B. Spurgin, prominent Victoria architect and veteran of the South African War and the Great War, whose death occurred here Friday morning.

There was a large attendance of members of the 103rd Battalion Association, of which Major Spurgin was the president, as well as many representatives of the British Columbia Institute of Architects, the United Service Institution of Vancouver Island, the Oxford Group Movement, business men and friends and acquaintances.

The Church of England burial service was conducted by Rev. Alan Gardiner, rector of St. Matthias', assisted by Rev. F. L. Stephenson. The hymns "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven" and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" was sung and during the service Pips' Major Donald Cameron, of the 16th Scottish Regiment played the lament "Flowers of the Forest," which was a great favorite of Major Spurgin. Interment was made in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park, with the following as pallbearers: Major B. H. T. Drake, Captain F. G. Dexter, Lieutenant Charles Milligan, J. J. Blair and J. A. Wren, representing the 103rd Battalion Association. P. B. Birrell and Ian Phillips, British Columbia Institute of Architects, and H. G. (Gardner) and Harold D. Patterson, the Oxford Group.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Magistrate Hall to Give Decision on Monday in Harbor Soliciting Case

The conclusion was reached yesterday in the city police court of the argument in the charge against Arthur Butler of having broken the city by-law in using a small boat to advertise by megaphone directing passengers on a C.P.R. steamer to make use of the Blue Line taxi buses in sight-seeing in the city. Judgment will be handed down by Magistrate H. C. Hall next Monday.

Capt. George Kirkendall, harbor master of the port of Victoria, testified to his part in the alleged granting of permission to the defendant to make use of the boat. The harbor master declared that Mr. Butler came to his office in July and said he was going to operate a small boat in the harbor to advertise the Blue Line. Witness thought he came to his office to get permission to do this.

To Stuart Henderson, counsel for the defendant, the harbor master said that he thought he told Mr. Butler he had the right to operate such a boat provided he did not interfere with navigation in the harbor and did not proceed at too high a speed. Mr. Kirkendall stated he thought he had explained to the applicant that there had been complaints by the captains of large vessels against small boats crossing the bows of the larger ones.

DID NOT GIVE PERMISSION

The harbor master testified he did not give permission for the defendant to operate. He told him that as far as he could see it was within his power to do as he said he intended to do.

When Mr. Henderson asked witness if he had control of the harbor, objection was at once raised by C. L. Harrison for the city, who pointed out that the statute or the regulations would speak for themselves, and it was purely a matter of law. Finally, the information was obtained that the regulations under which the harbor master acted were now out of print. They had appeared in The Canada Gazette on January 26, 1924.

DOMINION HAS RIGHTS

Mr. Henderson argued that the jurisdiction over harbors under the Shipping Act must rest with the Crown as represented by the Dominion. The Province could not interfere with that power, he contended, which he said was upheld in the courts repeatedly. If the city had any rights, those must be subject to the authority of the harbor master.

This alleged violation was not within the area known as the "Harbor of the City of Victoria," as understood at Confederation. Victoria was limited to the shore-line at that time, defence counsel asserted.

The decision of Judge Harper in the previous case was not of much assistance, as that case was decided upon altogether different points to what arose in this case. The judgment in that case was decided on the point that the harbor was "a public place" under the by-law, Mr. Henderson declared.

Mr. Harrison argued that it was common ground for twenty years that the point at which the offence was alleged was in the city.

plete for the world-wide traffic in arms. The world total of $43,600,000, it was pointed out, necessarily was incomplete.

Germany's best center in arms for 1935, according to the league was Great Britain with purchases amounting to 1,089,000 Reichsmarks ($435,600).

SPANISH PROTEST

The report on armaments divided attention in league circles with the Spanish protest to the League of Nations against German and Italian recognition of the Paeist insurgents.

as the de facto Government of Spain.

Informed sources expressed the belief that the league council would decide to consider the Spanish charge on the grounds it was a domestic question.

The suggestion was put forth that the entire question be shifted to the World Court, empowered to consider any problem of international law.

THE RIGHT OF APPEAL

The whole structure of justice in the country and the whole legal fraternity must be concerned about the growing practice of Provincial Governments in engineering legislation which is refusing the right of the courts to an increasing number of citizens. This subversive practice appears to have started in Ontario, where the Government, in cancelling contracts entered into by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, forbade appeals to the courts against such cancelling under legislation devised by Premier Hepburn and his Attorney-General. Then the Provincial Government of Alberta put a spoke in appeals to justice in connection with its experimental legislation paying the way to Social Credit. Now British Columbia's Legislature has passed an act which makes municipal refunding plans compulsory if approved in connection with an issue by 51 per cent of the bondholders, and no appeal to justice, where contracts are concerned, is allowed to the remaining 49 per cent, who will have to submit to conversion with a sigh.

The foundations of liberty are being undermined by the attempt to take power out of the hands of the courts of the land. It means, in some particular, a suspension of the civil law. Junius, in an appeal to the English nation, wrote of how the laws which protect the people in their civil rights "grew out of the constitution and they must fall or flourish with it." To see that they flourish "is not the cause of faction, or of party, or of any individual, but the common interest of every man." The right of an appeal to the courts is an essential part of the constitution which should never be allowed to be suspended or weakened, and it is a strange commentary on the apathy of the times in which we live that the political constitution can be invaded without any "determined and persevering resistance."

A government cannot be sued by a private citizen, or citizens without a fiat, permission, or commission from the Government concerned. That power in the case of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission has been transferred to the organization, which is a government venture but which can refuse consent to any legal action being taken against itself. The issue in this particular has been raised by the Ottawa Power Company. It entered action against the Ontario Hydro because of the cancellation of a contract. Judge Rose, of Toronto, ruled that the company had no status. The company appealed to the Court of Appeal against this ruling, and now that Court has ruled, by three to two, that the action can proceed. Evidently the Ontario Court of Appeal takes a higher viewpoint of what justice means than does the Ontario Government, or its subsidiary, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. It has vindicated the right of companies, and, incidentally, of private individuals, to seek justice in the courts.

Any citizen, any group of citizens should have the right to sue a government or a government subsidiary whenever a question of just dealing is at stake. It should be so not only in Ontario but in Alberta and British Columbia as well. The right of appeal to the courts is an essential part not only of the constitution but of the well-being of the body politic as a whole. Wherever the right is refused there is an arbitrary government in power.

NEWSPAPER READERS

When the announcement was made of the purchase of The Toronto Mail and Empire by The Globe's new proprietors, letters were received by both these newspapers, some very caustic because the identities of the papers were to be merged, and others wishing the joint enterprise good luck. It is on the basis of these letters that the first edition of The Globe and Mail has a leading editorial under the caption of "Your Favorite Paper." The character of the letters received shows reasons why affection is bestowed on a certain newspaper. Sometimes that affection is because of its politics; sometimes because of its general news features; sometimes it may be because of its avoidance of sensationalism, or that certain principles for which it stands have a strong appeal.

Every newspaper is constantly receiving a symposium of views from its readers. They feel that they have the intimacy of friendship and can say what they like, and the greater that intimacy is the stronger the place a newspaper has in the hearts of its subscribers. There are a score and one ways in which a newspaper can appeal, and it knows this by the mail it receives. There is much private mail, many letters that are not for publication, just giving advice or expressing gratification, or perhaps this because of some special feature of something that has been published. The heart of a newspaper is in the principles it espouses unhesitatingly and continually, and in its honest presentation of what interests the widest circle of its readers. It must have continuity of policy if it is to achieve success, and it must strive to be the guardian of what it conceives to be in the best interest of the greatest number.

There is a sidelight on the appeal that newspapers have in a protest received by The Colonist against the character of the "horoscope" printed in this newspaper. This protest came from a non-subscriber. It appears this horoscope, in her opinion, is not a newspaper that prints the future, and she prefers a newspaper that prints a horoscope from which she derives greater satisfaction. In all other particulars she prefers The Colonist and would willingly subscribe to it were the horoscope feature improved. This indicates how one feature alone, and she is dealing with those stars that incline but do not compel, may determine a predilection for a particular newspaper.

The opinion of readers is sought on any and every phase of what is published by a daily newspaper. It is the boast of The London Times that each subscriber to it has a conversation, as well as a source of potential news value, in other words, that great newspaper recognizes that each one of its subscribers is a friend who is intimately interested in the fortunes of the publication and ready to assist it in its task of assembling the news and improving its columns. Something of this sort is indicated in the many letters and telephone messages received by both The Toronto Globe and The Mail and Empire on the announcement of their amalgamation. Both papers had earned close and fast friends. They did so by the maintenance of high standards in their publications.

"TOO OLD AT FORTY"

Social Credit theorists pursue conclusions infinite to make their doctrine attractive to the masses. One of the latest incentives offered is that by Mr. J. H. Unwin, a Social Credit Member of the Alberta Legislature for Edmonton, who believes that the gospel will make it possible for workers to retire at the age of forty and make way for younger people. Perhaps the world has been waiting for Social Credit to bring into effect the doctrine of "too old at forty," and to promote a new era of laziness on earth. The whole gospel is one of fostering the idea that something can be gained for nothing given, and proponents vie with one another in offering inducements to those who will embrace the creed. The appeal is an alluring one to those who are mentally tired and want to acquire the luxuries of life and want to acquire them with the minimum of effort. This political creed never preaches the gospel of work; what it does advocate is that the lazy should enjoy the productivity of the workers. An illusive credit which has to be worked out on paper by economic experts, irrespective of what the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse may be doing on earth, is to be granted to all, irrespective of what claim they have established on it by their contribution to the world's energy.

It is a fascinating prospect for those who have an inherent distaste to work, and to some extent, at least, Social Credit followers are measured by this standard. Most assuredly its adherents seem to have endless time for propaganda of their theory. That propaganda is of the elastic variety, because there are apparently still no definite limits to what it can offer to a gullible public. That it should have gained any hold on the intelligence is a symptom of the times when nerves are badly rattled, when logic plays a minor part in directing judgment, and when so many are content with pursuing the shadow and letting the substance go.

This earth and its problems, its work and its pleasures, its loves and its hates, occupies the absorbed attention of all humanity. What does it all amount to if Sir James Jeans is right, for he says "We know now that there are about as many stars in space as there are grains of sand on all the sea beaches in the world; our earth is only a minute fragment broken loose, like many others, from one such grain of sand."

FLIGHT

The leaves are falling too soon, the leaves are falling; The birds wheel out and turn then south turn them away; All air's loud with their voices crying and calling Under the clear day.

Now the strong gypsies of the unheeded spaces Tossed thick with combat of the clouds or bright With falling flame of the sunset far places.

Take to the night. Though I live long, and teach my feet the treading Of olden roads as green as grass— Always again when the bright blaze is spreading.

The fall glory of God— Always again, until they bury me under The cool turf that covers many a rest— Till my bones dust, till my heart is emptied of wonder Shall wonder rise in my breast.

The old insatiable, unceasing longing To go on prisonerless wings, free—free— With the shepherdless flocks, the caparined armies thronging.

The far wastes of the sea—

—Audrey Alexandra Brown.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

So, young man, you're out of school and can't find work? That's bad, discouraging. And yet, it's queer, because seldom was there so much work waiting to be done. Ten thousand homes in this small place, some with fences down, with roofs a-sail, with drain pipes crumbling, with gardens left unkempt. But perhaps it was not work you seek, but a position and a salary? Take work, the post will come. Take the first job you find. It won't be hard, because many are seeking white collar jobs and salaries, but few seek work for its own sake. Then, if you can do that little well, there's more to come. Much more: enough for you and all your pals for many years to come. There are libraries and night schools where you can dig for knowledge that you'll need along the road.

The state owes you a living? Well, perhaps it does, but there's only one way to collect, and that is work. What if ten thousand boys are freshly out of school in Canada? What about youth's problem? It is your problem that you first must solve, John Henry Doe, not youth at large. The Government must fix it? Well, who are the Government? Are they not the people, you and all the rest of us? Of course they are. Your problem is not as tough as that. Listen, friend—if you wait on governments to fix it, you'll have a long, long wait. They still treat with problems in the mass, and John Henry Doe is but a number on their books. No, your problem's yours, you'll find.

It's not you who are, but what you do that counts. You can drive a car. But others can do that. Search once again, what else can you do? Could you nail pickets on a fence? Look where the dogs came through and spoiled the flower beds. Could you drive a nail in that tree? Not a job? Well, the world is run by motors, to say, to pump, to generate our light and power, to move goods from here to there, to turn a lathe, to run a mill. Perhaps your bent's mechanics. You haven't tried. Well, it's not too late. All life's ahead of you, John Henry Doe.

Don't be downcast. You've got your health and strength. The richest in the world would spill their fortunes with you. If you could transfer those. Your health is priceless; it is a fortune in itself. Others are beggars, by comparison with you. Keep your health, your mind, your body, clean. It is the only road to happiness. What! There's no place in this grey old world? Don't you believe it. Have you tried the footings of the ladder? Steps lead right up. Steady stairs to the top. And you can pick your ladder. It's not what you are, but what you can do that counts. You're not afraid to climb, John Henry Doe. And climbing's easy once you start. It is the start that counts, and who but you yourself can make the start?

You've tried, it all? That's strange. Never a day went by, but changes come on every scene, on every street, in almost every home. This land was built by men who started in their shirt-sleeves, with nothing but their hands and health and pluck to pull them up. On time-in-factors, at sea down in the mine, in the forest, there are a million openings waiting for the man who seeks them out. But they will not come to you. If you go after work, John Henry Doe, and it's work you seek, you'll find it within a dozen blocks of where you live. The world is full of uncompleted labors. A little job will dole leads to others, not so small and presently, you'll have a job and funds. Forget the problems of all youth and wars unrest. Let scoundrels talk. It's all they ever do.

Forget the towns if need be. No Indians need to send an arrow whistling by your head, no rapids left unrun, no reefs unmarked. It is straight sailing. Hold, then, your sails, lay out a course and hold it true. There's port ahead. Where is the boy who could not lick his dad once he set out to try? Strike out afresh, and look to go with you. You'll whip your problem long before a Government reports. John Henry Doe Esquire.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"HELLO!"

The common colloquial, every-day and up-to-the-minute "Hello" is the oldest expression in our language with an interesting background and growth. Hello was formerly hullo, halo and hillo, all being the imperative form of the Old High German verb "hellen" to call. In the latter significance it was first applied in connection with a ferryman. Early in its development, "Hello" came to be used as an exclamation meaning "do!" to the chase, slowly it acquired modern usages, such as calling someone at a distance, calculating in surprise or in surprise of a friend or acquaintance, met unexpectedly, or in surprise.

SEAMEN ATTEND FIRST SERVICE

House Flag of Old Navigation Company Is Presented To Cathedral Here

Victoria seafarers, their families and friends, attended the first of what is to be an annual service for seafarers in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday evening, and paid tribute to the memory of seamen of this port who had gone to their rest during the past year.

At the beginning of the service, the house flag of the old Canadian Pacific Navigation Company was presented to the cathedral for safe-keeping. Its last service at sea was a few weeks ago when it flew from the masthead of the Ss. Salvage Queen, at one time a part of the fleet of the C.P.N. The flag was the gift of Captain A. MacDonald, on behalf of the Thermopylae Ship Company.

FLAG IS RECEIVED
The flag was formally received into the cathedral by Rev. E. O. Robathan and was escorted to the altar by J. A. Heritage, retired chief engineer of the Ss. Princess Margaret; Captain D. J. Butler and Major F. V. Longstaff, vestry clerk of the cathedral, who made all arrangements in connection with the service, which was similar to that held in St. Paul's, London, each year.

Rev. J. W. Leighton, chaplain to the "Missions of Seamen," Vancouver, preached the sermon and praised the work of seamen with special reference to the crews of tramp steamers. He also offered words of comfort to those bereaved during the year as well as previously. Prayers for seafarers were also said for Rev. P. W. Weaver and Mrs. Weaver, who will leave shortly for Shanghai to take charge of a mission there.

IN REMEMBRANCE
Those remembered at the service were: Frederick N. Adam, third engineer, B.C. Coast Service; John Anderson, master mariner, Canadian Merchant Service; Benjamin A. Brown, master mariner, B.C. Coast Service; M. S. Cutler, master mariner, C.P.N.; John W. Noble, able seaman, C.P.N.; Nicholas O'Brien, able seaman, C.P.N.; James Pettigrew, chief engineer, C.P.N.; Quaidin W. R. Sayer, officers' steward, R.C.N.; and J. B. Singleton, master mariner, C.P.N.

You Wouldn't Believe It

"Bull" Martin, New Jersey pachyderm, who made his Victoria debut Saturday evening at the Tillamook gymnasium, told us he was thirty-six years old. Imagine our embarrassment when we walked into his dressing-room and asked him if he had been wrestling for thirty-five years. He soon told us his age, and we were surprised. He has defeated Gus Sonnenberg, grappled to a draw with Doc George "Whizzer" White, was champion, and was disqualified in his bout with Danno O'Mahony. He was born at Trenton, New Jersey, of Irish parents. . . . Paul "Bonnie" Boesch, good-looking Long Beach grappler, who has the fastest and most deadly drop kick in the mat game, has just returned from a tour of Australia and New Zealand. While down under he wrestled forty-four matches in four months, with the following results: won, fifteen; drew, thirteen; lost, ten. Six of his defeats were at the hands of Earl McCready, a former Canadian school teacher, who is really doing well in Australia. . . . Rebel Russell is twenty-eight. He has been wrestling professional four years. In 1932 he just failed to make the United States Olympic wrestling team. A former American football player who once wore the uniform for Northwestern, Russell is a likable young man who is really making a name for himself in the bone-breaking pastime.—S.T.

He Knew His Marbles

Many interesting anecdotes are brought to light when men start a discussion on boyhood ambitions and adventures. At a recent gathering of clubmen, Oscar was recounting his prowess as a marbles player. He said that he had been at one stage of his boyhood days, as a marble champion, he bored a hole in the heel of his boot, filled it with chewing gum and used the dodge to collect marbles. . . . A Toronto professor claims succession from the British Empire is Canada's only course to remain neutral in the event of another European war. We hope the professor never arrives. . . . A McGill professor stated that poker will outlive bridge in Canada. We've always felt the latter game was far more interesting. . . . We heard an announcer blurt out on the radio, "There is no surer way to be popular than by playing the piano." How about winning a basketball? . . . The city clerk's office in the City Hall received a letter from a man and a few beans again when old Sol is getting low in the sky. The late afternoon beams are reflected from windows of a building on the corner of Douglas Street and Pandora. A spike sends in a clipping from a Chicago newspaper in which Prof. Clarence A. Neymann, teacher of psychiatry at Northwestern University, claims the automobile driver who took his horn unnecessarily, to show displeasure when delayed in traffic, is an imbecile of the first order. But that is only one man's opinion.

Bill, the Broad Street barber, tells a story of a British Columbian who wished he could enough money to pay an income tax. . . . Then he moved to Alberta. . . . If Victoria has ruined her credit, it is not true. That credit, ruined the city first.—G.B.

Play Places and Quakes

The Pasadena Civic Auditorium, one of the largest in the United States, is a sight for those interested in such structures. . . . built on modernistic lines, the building resembles a palace-floater. Here are given a number of great operas and concert singers appear at popular prices. . . . In the rear a huge ballroom brings some famous dance orchestra each week to play for the dancers at twenty-five and thirty cents. . . . Each city the size of Victoria has an auditorium and uses it. There are playgrounds for the kiddies the like of which we have never seen in Victoria. The Department of Education, we believe, supervises all these parks and some of the most up-to-date equipment has been installed. In Long Beach new earthquake-proof schools have been erected, and in Pasadena the students at the Junior College are still receiving instruction in terms awaiting the completion of a new school. . . . Last week to avoid an accident in a quake, a number of one-timers, sold us, was to duck as quickly as possible for a door jamb and stay underneath it until the quake had stopped. So, tough on a fall from a horse, but not so tough on a fall from a horse for another day.—W.J.H.

Do You Know That

Olav White football team played to 351.35 lbs. also paid $1741.125 to see them in action in six games this season. . . . None of them has played from coast to coast. . . . The team, with sixty-seven men in uniform for each game, has thirty-nine home-bred boys on its squad. . . . Then there's Ohio State with a squad of sixty-seven men and thirty-five home-bred boys on its squad. . . . Last year when Notre Dame played Ohio State there was $10,000 in attendance at an average of $5 per fan in a city with a population of 100,000. More than 9,000 of these fans had to stand and knew it before the game started. . . . Negroes danced "jazz" until 1300 years ago. . . . It is revealed by carvings discovered in Egypt. . . . The Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles, where the 1932 Olympic Games were held, cost $18,000. . . . Eighty-three thousand Canadians get their living by catching fish and

And on these squads are six young Orientals. . . . New ice hockey stadiums will be opened this winter in the German cities of Cologne, Dortmund and Krefeld. . . . Fog and Hot Air

We always thought Vancouver was full of hot air. . . . We have conclusive proof. According to meteorologists the recent heavy fogs in that city are caused by cold air coming down from the mountains and clashing with the "hot air" in the city. Victoria was practically clear all the time, except for a few nights when the Legislature was sitting.—W.F.P.

MORE SUNSHINE FOR NOVEMBER

Victoria Had 115 Hours of Bright Weather and Was Free of Gales

Victoria was the weatherman's favored spot in November and contributed a total of 115 hours of sunshine for the thirty days of the second last month of the year. The month was also unusually free from rain and gales that usually sweep the island in the fall months.

According to figures of the Dominion Meteorological Station here, given out yesterday by W. A. Thorne, superintendent, there was only 1.25 inches of rain for the month, the lowest November rainfall in thirty-five years. In 1901 there was .91 of an inch. Last month's total was 3.03 inches below the average. It was reported "sunshine" was thirty-eight hours above the average. The total rainfall for the eleven months is shown in the report as 21.65 inches. The mean temperature for November was 45 degrees, which was also the average. The maximum was 56 degrees on November 24, and the minimum 34 on November 2, with a minimum on the grass of 23 the same day.

MRS. EDWARD HEYES DIES AT LADYSMITH
LADYSMITH Nov. 30.—The death occurred here yesterday of Mrs. J. A. Heyes at the age of fifty-seven years. Born in Ince, Lancashire, she was among the original residents of this city. She was a just chief of the local temple, Pythian Sisters, and was popularly identified with the active work of the organization, and with the Rebekahs. Surviving her husband, Edward Heyes, and three sons, John, Ernest and Samuel, the funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon from St. John's Church.

Peace River Will Be Sub-Base for Northern Planes

EDMONTON, Nov. 30.—When mail service from Port St. John, B.C., to Fort Graham and other points in the Interior of Northern British Columbia goes into operation, regular passenger service will be conducted between Edmonton and intermediate points, namely Peace River and Grande Prairie.

Pilot Grant McConachie, president of United Air Transport, has announced the company intends to establish a sub-base at Peace River, where a flying field has been established.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"Trapped in a gold mine" would be an alternate title for today's article. The hand described is a striking illustration of the advantages and disadvantages of position in relation to honor cards.

According to tradition, the Duke of Cumberland lost a sizable fortune at whist on a hand that would make the average player's eyes protrude from their sockets. The hand, which is supposed to have been ♠ A K Q J, ♣ A K Q J, ♠ J 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, ♣ 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2, but at any rate it has become a bridge classic. I suppose everyone knows the story, how the Duke was unable to win a single trick against a club declaration. Today's hand does not vie with this for sensationalism, and never will become a legend, but it actually did occur in a recent rubber game.

Youths to Receive Forestry Training On Sooke Watershed

City Council Is Informed Provincial Government Intends to Instruct Up to 100 Young Men—Use of Relief Camp Buildings Sought

PROVINCIAL Forestry Department seeks use of the city's Sooke Lake relief camp buildings and equipment to train up to 100 young men in forestry work, Alderman Edward Williams informed the City Council last evening. Alderman Walter Luney believed the move was a good one, because the city would benefit by having the watershed area cleaned up and a certain amount of reforestation carried out.

Alderman Andrew McGavin wanted to know if some guarantee could be secured that equipment would be properly cared for. He hoped Victoria youths would be given an opportunity to receive training. The relief committee, under Alderman Williams, was given power to act, providing the Minister of Labor guarantees boys would be furnished with transportation back to their home cities when their training was completed.

It was decided that the Island Freezing & Packing Company, Limited, which took over the cold storage plant at Ogden Point, should continue to pay 7.5 cents per thousand gallons for water. The city solicitor pointed out $600 left as a charge against the original company largely represented meter rentals. Alderman Luney stated a court decision within one year's time would clarify the situation in regard to rates and arrears on water furnished by the city.

BREAKWATER PATH
A letter from S. J. Munroe, division engineer for the Canadian National Railways, pointed out it would be impossible to provide a path across the railway track to the breakwater for accommodation of those who wished to stroll on the structure.

In dealing with a letter from Arthur Benough, who claimed he lost his trousers through an elevation in a sidewalk, the city solicitor pointed out the city could accept no liability in the matter.

A Good Roads League of British Columbia resolution calling for appointment of a non-political highway commission to permanently have control of construction, maintenance and management of all highways was endorsed by the council. A letter was ordered written to the school board that no funds were available for surfacing and fencing the tennis court at Oaklands School.

The following resolution was passed in regard to interest received on Alberta bonds held by the city:

"That the cheque received for $1,479.38 from the Province of Alberta for interest on bonds held by the city, being half the usual amount of interest payable, be accepted by the city and the city controller instructed to write to the Provincial Treasurer of Alberta protesting this payment and reserving the city's rights in connection therewith."

IS CONSULTANT OF RADIO FIRM

Dr. Lee De Forest to Advise Engineering Problems At Toronto

DR. LEE DE FOREST

Dr. Lee De Forest, whose inventive achievements in the development of radio since its earliest stages over thirty years ago earned him the title of "Father of Radio," has been engaged by De Forest Crosby, Limited, of Toronto, as consulting engineer.

Dr. De Forest engineered the original De Forest Crosby radios in Canada fourteen years ago. In recent years he has been engaged in important television, sound and radio engineering in conjunction with leading laboratories in the United States. He will continue in such activities while carrying on his advisory work with the Canadian organization.

Dr. De Forest's first invention having to do with the conquering of space was in 1901 in Chicago, where he transmitted a telegraphic signal for a distance of a half mile. Following this he made a number of tests over greater distances and finally a company was launched to promote this new development that in the minds of many people at the time was nothing more than a fad. The young inventor also carried on much of his earlier activity in Canada, and organized the De Forest Wireless Company in Canada in 1905.

INDISPUTABLE SUCCESS
It was in that same year of 1905 that Dr. De Forest's invention enabled him to flash a message from New York to Chicago nearly a thousand miles, without wires. Dr. De Forest knew then that his work of many years had been crowned with indisputable success.

But the service of this man to the world had only begun. In every part of the globe, wherever science developed and experimented, the genius of Lee De Forest has been recognized. Talking motion pictures owe him much, television in the days of its early development called upon his ingenuity. But, most of all, Dr. De Forest's hand and brain have been busy with radio, the entertainer and educator of people in their own homes.

When the radio owner sets the dial of his radio and hears voices and music from some distant part of the world he may justly credit a considerable part of his thrill to Dr. Lee De Forest whose successful introduction of the so-called "grid" in a vacuum tube enabled the tube to be used as an electron relay. This development meant that a tube could be used as an amplifier, and is so used in every broadcast receiver made today.

FIELD OF TELEPHONY

Not only in radio but in the world of telephony millions of these amplifier tubes are used in long distance circuits. The first public demonstration of the amplifier tube was made in 1915, with the amplification of a voice heard from the World's Fair at San Francisco to New York. Dr. De Forest was also the first man to use the vacuum tube as a high frequency oscillator. Every superheterodyne radio receiving set in use today uses an oscillator tube to generate alternating current of high frequency. It is of interest that Dr. De Forest's oscillator patent is the only patent in connection with radio circuit design that has been upheld by the United States Supreme Court. It is noteworthy that Dr. De Forest established the first commercial radio broadcasting station in the United States—WVJ at Detroit, Michigan—in October, 1920.

SAANICH TEAMS IN EASY WINS

Pitzer & Nex and Victoria Meat Market Register Shutout Victories

Shutout victories were registered Sunday in the Saanich-District Football League as Pitzer & Nex blanked the Busy Bee Cafe 4-0, and Victoria Meat Market trounced Marigold, 7-0.

Playing at Hampton Road, the gamblers scored once in the initial stanza and bagged home three additional tallies in the last half. Tithill accounted for the first marker while Hall and Bell, the latter with two goals, accounted for the other markers. Setting up a 3-0 lead at the breather, Victoria Meat Market had an easy time with the Marigold eleven at Restford Road. Jimmy Crowe netted two tallies in the first half and Neil McCaig the third. Early in the second stanza McCaig scored again, and then Alexander Kennedy, Meat Market centre-forward, banged home two nice goals. Smith wound up the scoring about halfway through the final period. "Chuck" Bailey, Marigold's fire-half, sustained a broken nose in a collision and was compelled to leave the field of play.

SCHEDULES ARE VETOED

Proposed New Bus Routes In Saanich Rejected by Ratepayers at Meeting

Proposed new schedules affecting bus lines in Saanich, were rejected last night by a meeting of about 170 persons, representing Wards Two, Four and Seven. The meeting was held in Mount View High School. The meeting vetoed plans for a Gorge-Depot-Lake Hill service, as outlined by representatives of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, and refused to accept a faster service on the Douglas-Argue-Ralph route to allow a more adequate service for residents in the Glanford Avenue section.

PRESENTS CASE
Speaking for the Coach Lines, Conway Parrott stated that because of the growth of the Gorge and Lake Hill sections, the transportation company wished to give a more frequent and better service. He explained the proposed route would give twenty-minute service in peak hours and twenty-five minute service in off-peak periods, while the present schedule allowed thirty-minute service at off-peak times and twenty-minute service at peak periods.

However, Mr. Parrott said, peak service would be increased to four-hour service on both lines as against two-hour peaks at present. The Gorge service would be increased from thirty-seven to forty-four trips while the Lake Hill service would be boosted to forty-three trips from thirty-six trips at present.

No regular drivers would lose employment if the new route was adopted, Mr. Parrott said in response to a question. He said the company was seeking to give a better service to ratepayers and had no intention of creating any unemployment. Replying to a question covering possible accidents under the more frequent service, Mr. Parrott said the Vancouver Island Coach Lines had an unequalled record on the Pacific Coast for low accident rate and intended to keep it. San Francisco, Vancouver and other large Coast cities were unable to cope with the overcrowding problem at peak times, he claimed. There was to be no increase in fares.

Councillor Leslie H. Pasamore declared he would follow the ruling of a "Ward Seven Ratepayers' Association" meeting held last week and vote "no" on the schedule when it appeared before the council. Councillor S. C. Warren, Ward Two, declared it was up to the people to decide what they wanted. For himself, he did not want to make a snap judgment. Councillor John Watson, Ward One, advocated larger buses to eliminate standing.

A plan to have the matter brought up as a plebiscite in the January elections was rejected by a forty-one to twenty-seven vote, while a show of hands disclosed twenty-one favored the new schedule with forty-four against.

Many did not vote as they considered the matter outside their district.

GLANFORD ROUTE
On the Douglas-Argue-Ralph route, Mr. Parrott said that it was the company's intention to route certain buses through Glanford Avenue. This could be done only by placing buses on a steady run and eliminating the present layover at the rural terminal, he said. The new schedule would give a service to Glanford Avenue.

Councillor W. R. Woods made a spirited appeal for support of the new schedule. He declared the last bus for Glanford Avenue residents was at 4 p.m., thus forcing them to walk up to two and a half miles for a bus if they wished to spend an evening in Victoria. There were seven more trips to Ralph Street, through Glanford Avenue, under the new schedule, Councillor Woods declared.

In opposing the new routing on this line Councillor Warren said it was not possible to make the distance in fifteen minutes as at first planned by the transportation company a plan which was subsequently turned down by the Saanich Council.

The "Big Interests" In Life Insurance are the Policyholders and Beneficiaries

IN Life Insurance, the "Big Interests" are the millions of Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries—men, women and children who share in the protection made possible by individual thrift and foresight. The concern of the Life Insurance companies in Canada is to safeguard these policyholders and beneficiaries. Their accumulated savings, amounting to more than two billion dollars, must be invested wisely to obtain the greatest yield consistent with safety. Every promise made in Life Insurance policies must be fulfilled completely and promptly. Canadian policyholders may feel justly proud of the wise and careful administration of their trust funds. Even in the darkest days of the depression, Life Insurance companies met every obligation promptly and fully—bringing financial security to thousands of Canadian homes.

There is added satisfaction in the fact that the investment of Life Insurance funds has helped to build Canadian homes, schools and hospitals—and develop agriculture, industries and public utilities. Thus, the whole Dominion benefits from Life Insurance.

In the future, as in the past, Canadian policyholders and beneficiaries must always be the "Big Interests" of Life Insurance.

Haggis Piped in as Traditional Honors Given Patron Saint

Scottish Dancers and Pipers Take Part in Programme Arranged for St. Andrew's Day Ball at Empress Hotel

HAGGIS, heather and the Highland fling, together with all that goes to make a night of Scottish celebration more joyous, will be remembered as highlights of the St. Andrew's ball held last evening at the Empress Hotel, the most successful affair of its kind ever held in Victoria.

To Mrs. Colin H. Rutherford, who carried a bottle of whisky, then followed the horn of plenty and other attendants came the pipers and dancers. After marching round the ballroom, the bearers of the haggis presented it with pomp and ceremony to the "chief," who was on this occasion, Hon. F. M. MacPherson. The sword bearer gave the salute and the "chief" cut the haggis with his skien dhu, as he did so, saying the ode to the haggis "Fair fa' your honest sonnets face, great chieftain o' the puddin' race." The haggis was then served to the guests.

The whisky bearers poured out a tot for the chief, who, in turn poured one each for the pipers and dancers. The haggis was then served to the guests.

SCOTTISH DANCES

The programme during the supper interval included bagpipe selections, "The Sky Gathering" and "The Highland Wedding," by Pipers Donald Cameron and C. P. Rutherford, the grand march passed through the hotel lounge into the ballroom and the guests took their places at the long heather-decked tables. The blue cross of St. Andrew ornamented the white tablecloths, and round the walls were Scottish standards and huge thistles added a characteristic touch to the decorations. Life-like replicas of Highland "lasses" stood at either side of the stage on which the orchestra, led by William F. Turkel, played the dance programme. This included many Scottish airs such as "The Bluebells of Scotland," "The Campbells are Coming," "Annie Laurie," "Loch Lomond" and "Scotch Fantasy."

Supper was served at 11 o'clock and at this time the important ceremony of bringing in the haggis was the centre of attraction. First came the pipers, Donald Cameron and Colin Peter Rutherford, followed by the sword bearer, Mr. C. H. Rutherford, and then Colonel F. M. MacPherson, who bore the haggis. After him came Lieut. Colonel Walter Bapty and Lieut. Colonel Brooke.

Miss M. Earl Is Bride of Mr. A. P. Perry

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED P. PERRY

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Earl, 2137 Spring Road, when their eldest daughter, Margaret Evelyn, became the bride of Mr. Alfred Perry, second son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Perry, Oswego Street, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. During the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. E. F. Church, the bride and groom stood beneath an archway adorned with pink and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked pretty in a frock of blue pink tulle with a modish long-sleeved jacket, worn with a wide brimmed hat of matching material trimmed with a cluster of pink flowers in front. She held a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Olive Grace Earl, sister of the bride, wore a charming frock of blue point d'esprit, with a pink sash, and long pink mittens, and a blue Juliet cap of point d'esprit trimmed with a spray of tiny French flowers across the front. She held a Colonial posy of mixed flowers. Mr. Arthur Perry attended his brother.

A buffet supper was served after the service from a table centred with the wedding cake, with tall white tapers on either side, and vases of pink and white carnations at each corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry will make their home in Victoria.

WEDDING GIFTS

Among the many wedding gifts were a dinner set from the V.L. & M. Co., playing mill staff, of which the groom is a member, and from the Review No. 19 W.B.A., a silver casserole, from the A.T.A., a rex casserole, and from the committee and guides, an individual casserole set.

The bride and groom left for Victoria, the bride wearing an imported headpiece of brown and tan check. On their return, they will reside in Chemainus.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were the grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Gard Victor, Miss M. Thornycroft, and Mr. S. Thornycroft, Nanaimo.

SECRETARY IS CHOSEN

Rev. Edwin Bracher Made Official of Victoria Ministerial Association

REV. EDWIN BRACHER

Rev. Edwin Bracher, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, was chosen secretary of the Victoria Ministerial Association at its monthly meeting yesterday morning at the Y.W.C.A. He succeeds Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle, who has held that position for the past two years.

As a pleasant prelude to his interesting address on "The Viny Pilgrimage," Mr. Acheson-Lyle was presented by the members of the association with a handsome pair of hand-carved book ends, in recognition of his services. The presentation was made by Rev. E. F. Church, who eulogized the recipient's efficiency as a secretary and his qualities as a Christian gentleman.

Mr. Acheson-Lyle, who has been in charge of the Anglican parishes at Colwood and Melchett for several years, will leave tomorrow for England, where he will serve on the staff of the St. Paul's Church, Portsmouth, to which he was designated during his recent visit to England.

In connection with the unveiling of the Viny memorial.

An entertaining sketch of this trip was given by the speaker, to which added interest was given from the fact that he had served as second lieutenant in the Imperial army, and was prisoner for nine months in German hands.

NEGLECT OF CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Delicious Cereal Corrects This Condition in a Natural Way

Immediate attention to constipation is important for two reasons. It causes discomfort, and may lead to headaches and loss of appetite. It also tends to slow you down.

When elimination continues to be faulty, over a period of time, your general resistance may be lowered. And a weakened body is less able to fight off the infections that abound in every crowded place.

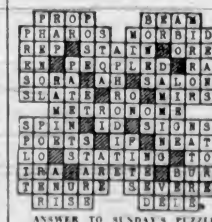

The most common type of constipation is that caused by insufficient "bulk" in meals. In Kellogg's All-Bran, you have a delicious source of effective "bulk."

Within the body, the "bulk" in All-Bran absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass and gently cleanses the system. This tempting cereal also furnishes vitamin B and contains iron.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into tempting muffins, breads, etc. How much pleasanter to enjoy this natural laxative food instead of taking pills and drugs.

All-Bran is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Strike Leaders Turn Their Attentions to Talking Engagements

Peace Negotiations Lag in California Port—Bridges and Lundberg Visiting Seattle—Union Men of San Pedro Take Stand

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30 (AP).—Maritime strike leaders turned their attention to speaking engagements today while peace negotiations lagged and the tie-up of Coast commerce entered its second month.

New efforts were started to obtain movement of food supplies to Hawaii, cut off from normal mainland commerce, after settlement last week of the problem as it affected Alaska. On another labor front in the Los Angeles harbor area, union truck drivers began a campaign to unionize all oil truck drivers, but police announced they would arrest pickets stopping traffic on highways.

TO GIVE ADDRESSES

Harry Bridges, militant president of the Coast District International Longshoremen's Association, and Harry Lundberg, secretary-treasurer of the Sailors' Union, both striking organizations, went to Seattle, where they planned to address meetings of the various striking maritime unions.

There was no indication of any immediate developments which might relieve Coast ports of the nearly 220 strike-bound vessels.

The coastal freight operators, who handle about 10 per cent of the Coast's cargo tonnage, have reached tentative agreements for new contracts with all unions but the masters, mates and pilots.

TOOK STRIKE VOTE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP).—Two more unions voted today to join the insurgent seamen's strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Hoyt S. Haddock, president of the American Radio and Telegraphists Association, announced a general strike of radio operators in all ports where vessels are tied up by other marine organizations, had been called.

The Marine Firemen, Oilers and Water Tenders Union also approved a strike at a meeting of about 500 members, called after an election of new officers was upheld by a Federal court.

LISTED AS UNFAIR

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 30 (AP).—Spokesmen for the striking Longshoremen's Union said today that henceforth all ships carrying cargo loaded at Vancouver, B.C., will be listed here as "unfair," regardless of their flag registration, and no tugboat, water taxi or other service will be supplied here.

FAVOR SEINE BOAT LIMIT

Qualicum Meeting Supports Creation of Two-Mile Area Outside Rivers

QUALICUM BEACH, Nov. 30.—Establishment of a two-mile limit for seine boats outside the Big and Little Qualicum Rivers was strongly supported by a well-attended meeting of the Qualicum Beach Fish and Game Association at the Log Cabin here Friday night.

It was pointed out that protected areas in inland waters now include a large area from Brentwood to Qualicum and another at Campbell River. In twenty years, seine fishing outside Qualicum and Parkville has seriously affected the sport fishing there. J. F. Tate, supervisor of fisheries at Nanaimo, described the action taken by his department to date.

Little is known about the life history and habits of the destructive blackfish, said Dr. C. McC. Mottey, of the biological station at Nanaimo, and more research is needed in this field. United States fisheries are having the same trouble with this pest as in Canadian waters.

A. W. Neil, M.P., outlined his efforts to persuade the Fisheries Department at Ottawa to study the blackfish. He had tried for more than a year to get them to take action, but they replied that they had been unable to obtain any specimens for study. A resolution asking the department to act was adopted by the meeting.

An interesting talk on the ooho salmon was given by Dr. Mottey, after which a number of films showing the fish, bird and animal life in British Columbia were shown by P. R. Butler, game commissioner.

SEAS BUFFET LITTLE SHIP

Lone Navigator and His Dog Have Rough Time On Atlantic

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Nov. 30 (AP).—Bound from Halifax to Vancouver in a twenty-three-foot sailboat, with a dog for companion, Captain W. A. "Bill" Crowell, of Nova Scotia, headed for Cuba today, after spending a tale here of lonely suffering at sea.

Crowell, who set sail from Halifax, July 13, with hopes of reaching Vancouver in twenty months, told of spending harrowing days at sea after a futile attempt, October 23, to tie up to Diamond Shoals lightship for the night.

"I then sailed sixty miles and hove-to, so rough was the sea," related the tanned and wrinkled sealer. "The first big wave filled the boat with water."

"I cut away the spar put out two drag anchors, and for fifty-five hours floated, the wind carrying me northeast, putting me in the Gulf stream where dolphins crowded around my boat so thick I could have reached out and picked up one, while flying fish seemed to have taken a pleasure in flying over my boat."

"I was one-thirty-five days and nights, five of them without a sliver of sleep and my food supply consisted of five slices of bread and a can of beans."

WATERFRONT KEEPS BUSY

Fifty-Four Deep-Sea Vessels Moored in Vancouver Harbor Yesterday

VANCOUVER, Nov. 30 (AP).—Fifty-four deep-sea vessels were moored in Vancouver harbor tonight, worked by more than 1,300 Canadian Union longshoremen as an estimated 300 pickets from the local International Longshoremen's Association continued their patrol of street-ends near the waterfront.

LLA spokesmen tonight repeated their statement that 300 pickets were stationed, despite denials by the British Columbia Shipping Federation which claimed not more than seventy pickets were on duty. "The British Columbia Shipping Federation is responsible for dispatching members of the two Canadian unions—Canadian Waterfront Workers' Association and Vancouver Longshoremen's Association—for longshore duty here."

Sixteen vessels entered the harbor over the week-end after the dense fog which paralyzed shipping operations for almost a week had lifted.

New Westminster made almost a full shift of shipping, dispatching there late last week and registering ten new arrivals. Eleven vessels were docked there today.

Bridge Span Had Close Call When Scows Go Adrift

VANCOUVER, Nov. 30 (AP).—Harbor tugs were busy today collecting timber from the harbor after two lumber-laden scows broke away from moorings alongside S.S. Llanarth at the Pool Elevator here Sunday night.

One of the scows threatened to carry away a second Narrows bridge span, but sunk as it was caught under the span on a rising tide.

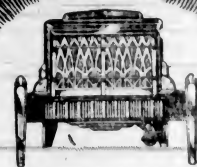

The other passed through the bridge and battered down 200 yards of piling at the Standard Oil Company pier.

SHOULD YOU EAT MORE FOOD EVERY DAY?

"Careful and controlled tests have shown that the sluggishness which so often affects indoor workers in the early and late afternoon is due the eating of heavy lunches, and it can be materially lessened by eating a light daily lunch of some ready-to-eat cereal such as corn flakes, with top milk and a gelatine, custard or fresh fruit dessert."

I am quoting Dr. Donald Laird, Colgate University, in The Journal of the American Dietetic Association.

"Do you frequently feel tired, irritable? Late in the morning and again late in the afternoon are you touchy and irritable or likely to make mistakes in your work? If so, it will surprise you to learn that in all probability you are not tired, but that it would not shock you if you did rest, but you are just plain starving. What you need is food."

I am quoting from Albert Edward Wiggam's review of the book "Diet and Physical Efficiency," by Dr. Hodard We Haggard and Leon A. Seltzer, in The American Dietetic Association Bulletin.

"The 'lunches' which are ascribed 'irritation' to lack of food. They suggest that 'larger' lunches should be eaten."

At first sight it is hard to recognize Dr. Laird's statement that, acgishness is caused by heavy lunches with the statement of Drs Haggard and Greenberg that lack of food is responsible for the tired feeling at this time.

As a matter of fact, Dr Laird is dealing with mental sluggishness or tiredness and Drs. Haggard and Greenberg with physical tiredness.

Dr. Laird has students in mind when he says a large meal at noon causes sluggishness, and Drs Haggard and Greenberg are dealing with factory workers.

No office executive, director of a sales organization, speaker, or other "mental" worker would think of filling himself with food just before any important meeting or address. He knows that a large meal brings a "sleepy" feeling and that he is not as alert as he would like to be. These executives will tell you that, if they eat a large lunch they are "sunk" for a couple of hours after lunch.

But what about a big meal before engaging in hard physical work or exercise? A wrestler boxer, football, tennis or other athlete does not want his stomach "filled" with food when he engages in a boisterous game. He wants the flow of his chest to be able to go well down and enable him to breathe deeply, something that a full stomach would prevent to a great extent. A factory worker does not usually do hard physical work, machine do this.

The point, then, is that for mental workers and for physical workers it might be well to eat often, but not as much food at each meal. Not more food, but more meat in which to eat our food, might be wise.

Bank of Montreal Makes Gains During Past Year

Liquid Assets Comprise 83.27 Per Cent of Public Liabilities—Rest Account Increased by $1,000,000 to $39,000,000

The Bank of Montreal annual statement for the fiscal year to October 31, makes a very strong showing with gains in many of the principal accounts. Special features include an increase in total assets to above the $800,000,000 mark and liquid assets for more than $800,000,000. Deposits continue to increase at a reassuring rate, and now exceed $690,000,000.

In keeping with the general trend during the early month of the year, current loans record a reduction, and this has tended to increase the bank's holdings of high-grade Government securities.

From accumulated profits, an amount of $1,000,000 was added to the Rest Account, bringing it up to $39,000,000 against the capital of $36,000,000.

LIQUID POSITION

Every part of the statement reflects the strength of the institution's position. Assets stand at $803,081,986, compared with $792,772,872 a year ago.

Of this amount, total liquid assets are $696,472,587, equal to 83.27 per cent of all liabilities to the public. The usually high percentage of liquid assets is likely due to the lessened demand for current accommodation and the necessity of placing a greater amount in high-grade Government bonds. As a result, the total holdings of government and other bonds and securities have increased to $442,781,097, from $361,769,000 a year ago. The greater portion of these holdings, consisting of gilt-edged securities, which mature at early dates, are reported in call loans both at home and abroad. Call loans outside of Canada stand at $25,400,166, as compared with $18,835,238, while call loans in Canada total $8,169,988, a gain from $4,435,736.

A further indication of the strength of liquid assets is afforded by cash holdings and deposits in the Bank of Canada of $79,242,079, notes of and cheques on other banks, $29,222,231 and deposits with other banks, $30,264,801, bring in the available cash holdings well above $125,000,000. While general business throughout the country, particularly in the latter months of the year, has reported substantial increases, it is evident that many of the later campaign are againing themselves of their liquid resources to take care of any new business secured. As a result, current loans have declined and are reported at $174,141,141, down from $214,441,311. This situation probably also indicates the readiness with which former loans have been liquidated.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT

Reflecting the improvement in conditions, profit showed a tendency to gain as compared with the previous year, after making appropriations to contingencies, and out of which fund provision for bad and doubtful debts had been made, were $3,181,501. As compared with $3,053,212. The profits were equal to 4.18 per cent on the capital stock and undivided profits. From the total profit there was appropriated for dividends $2,880,000 and $200,000 was written off bank premises, leaving the amount to be carried forward for the year of $101,501. When the amount was added to the balance brought forward at the end of the previous year, it brought the total balance at credit of profit and loss up to $2,036,534.

With the transfer of the Rest Account of $1,000,000, the balance in the Profit and Loss Account carried forward is $1,036,534.

NOVELTY WORKS LOCATING HERE

Hutchinson Company Secures Premises on Fisgard Street To Make Toys

The Hutchinson Novelty Works filed incorporation papers with the Registrar of Companies on Saturday and the new company is moving 851 Fisgard Street on January 1. The new plant will take over and renovate a former factory building. The renovation and alteration of the buildings will be carried out immediately. Power lines and steam heat will be installed. The latest high speed ball-bearing machines, individually driven by electric motors, will be introduced and new automatic presses are being brought from England. The factory will be painted white throughout during the next month. The paint room will be steam-heated with the latest thermic control devices necessary for proper toy drying.

The firm intends manufacturing its present line of staple commodities as well as special cabinet work such as school, fitness, kitchen, utilities and toys.

HEADS COMPANY

George Hutchinson, managing director of the new company is well-known as the designer of the Hiker toys and was with the company during its most successful years. Mr. Hutchinson is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Architects, and has a reputation for turning out remarkably attractive and durable toys.

Edwin E. Bell has been secured as secretary-treasurer of the new company. Mr. Bell has had over twenty years of successful merchandising in the East to his credit and he is now a resident of Victoria.

Gordon B. Hishop, local financial and business counsel has consented to act as chairman of the board of directors.

On the second storey of the new factory Mr. Hutchinson intends to fit up his doll making section of the toy manufacturing. This has been a successful branch of the work which he has had in hand in the past, and Mr. Hutchinson believes that the new plant will be able to buy locally-made dolls rather than depend on their supply of this favorite class of goods, upon outside factories.

FUEL SUPPLY HANDY

BEACH, N.D., Nov. 30 (AP)—WPA workmen employed on construction of a dam here solved their heating problem with the help of nature.

They uncovered a one-foot seam of lignite coal while digging for a spill-way. Now they use it to heat the shack where they eat lunch.

Of them all, only Richard and Eliza had something stable to offer. Renny hoped that Arlen and Eliza would be friends. Eliza belonged here no more than Arlen belonged, but the tide of circumstance and reality kept her here though she had tried several times to escape. Would Eliza, who was Christa's friend, reject Arlen's friendship? Through Eliza, Christa would know that he had met a beautiful girl at Ocean City and brought her to his sister. That might bring Christa back from Paris.

Fanny's indomitable energy could carry her no farther.

"Toby, we simply must go. Good night, Louise—Richard—Renny. Good night, Miss Leads. I do hope you won't find your new duties too difficult. Coming, Toby?"

"I am leaving," said Toby, "but not for long."

Eliza said, "I'll be up for tea tomorrow, Louise."

Renny inwardly groaned. Arlen would know. Eliza, with no malice, would tell her about Christa.

They filed out after many good nights and good-byes. It was now past two.

Renny said, "Time for my exit, too. I'm going to bed."

"Please tell mother," said Louise, "to come to New York for the winter. She'll freeze in that lonely house with nobody there except Allison and the servants."

"Will you be gone long?" Arlen asked.

"A week, probably."

As long as she lived she was grateful for Richard's arm around her shoulder at that moment. "Don't worry," he said. "We'll take good care of you. You're going to be one of the family."

"Mrs. Sanner made it very plain that she considers me a servant."

"Oh, Fanny!" said Louise, yawning. "Pay no attention to her!"

Arlen walked to the elevator with Renny. He smiled at her, took her by the shoulders and drew her close to him. It was a paternal gesture but Arlen being in his arms could not find her voice. She dared not look up at him with eyes that were clear with love, with a trembling mouth that asked to be kissed, a mouth that never before had been offered in love to any man.

She dared not look up at him with eyes that were clear with love, with a trembling mouth that asked to be kissed, a mouth that never before had been offered in love to any man.

"Arlen you thanked me once for being there when you needed me. I shall always be there when you need me. Remember that."

She clung to him a moment and drew away.

"I'm proud of you," he said. "Good night, my dear."

Sleep was impossible that night for Arlen with strange faces parading before his mind. She stared into the darkness of the cool high room, wanting to keep close and near that unforgettable moment in Renny's arms with her face pressed against his. He had thought that by clinging to him like a frightened child, seeing a parent go away, Didn't he know that dreams of love and illusions had become reality? The days would pass, marking time, until he came again. Everything that happened in the meantime suggested that they get down to business at once. While Louise nervously smoked one cigarette after another and paced the room restlessly, wondering what to wear because of the uncertain weather, Arlen separated paid bills and unpaid bills in two little neat piles and opened personal letters dated two months before. Louise's personal accounts and correspondence were in an appalling state. One hitherto unopened letter threatened a law suit. A personal letter from an old friend demanded to know why Louise had failed to congratulate her on the birth of her first-born. Her club dues were in arrears. Invitations to formal affairs had never been answered.

As Arlen worked she looked up now and then at Louise with steady eyes. Restless energy drove Louise on. She moved quickly, gracefully. In the evening her beauty had a breath-taking quality enhanced by extreme gloom. In the cruel daylight she looked tired and nervous.

"Why didn't I think of getting someone before? Why didn't Richard?" For years I've been getting myself in the most ridiculous situations because I simply cannot remember anything. Renny thinks of everything. He's marvelous. I won't question anything you do, Arlen, but just don't bother me with unbecoming details. She stood over the desk where Arlen was working, a tall goddess of a woman in a sheer trailing negligee. "Richard said that I should make it very plain to you, my dear, that you are not an employee. He is so sensitive of people's feelings."

"Shall we say," said Arlen, "that in the daytime I'm your secretary and in the evening your guest?"

"Why—yes. But don't work too hard so that you can't enjoy your evening."

"I won't. Do you object if I go to a business school for a few hours in the morning? I think I should know some of the technical points of being a secretary and I'd feel better about taking my salary. I can do all your work in the afternoons."

"Business school?" queried Louise, arching a narrow black brow. "Oh, one of those places where one learns stenography, isn't it? Of course, by all means go. Richard will be happy to pay for it for you."

Arlen protested, but Louise waved away her protestations with an impressive hand. "I won't hear of your paying out of the pleasure I'm giving you! Richard will attend to everything." She walked to the door, her negligee skimming the rug. "I'm going out to play bridge with Fanny."

Arlen smiled. "But Miss Brand is coming for tea this afternoon."

"Oh, Eliza. You entertain her, dear. Eliza comes to tea whether I'm here or not. She'll forgive me but Fanny never forgives anybody."

Through the short sunny afternoon Arlen worked in Richard's study reading letters from Louise's friends smiling at language exaggerated as here. What Louise paid for one frock had almost clothed Arlen for a year. The amounts she paid to manicurists, hairdressers and chiropodists were staggering.

After luncheon, during which the servants stared at her as though she were an unwanted intruder, Arlen went out on the roof and lifted her arms to the sun. Arlen prayed for freedom, knowing that no one in love is ever free. Standing there, a slim little figure with blowing yellow hair, she prayed that Renny be brought back to her, loving her. "Let me be only a bystander in the lives of Richard and Louise, Fanny and Toby. Don't let these people take from me what I have tried so hard to keep—my pretty illusions, Renny calls them bitterly."

She went back to the study again and worked until four when the door opened and Eliza Brand came in.

"I hope I'm not disturbing you," said Eliza.

"I was just finishing."

She felt that she had always known Eliza. After Louise's caprices, her exaggerations and petty storms of temper, Eliza was a serene, balanced person. Not over twenty-three, she more nearly spoke Arlen's language, and Arlen guessed, by the simplicity and inexpensiveness of her clothes, that good breeding rather than wealth entitled her to a place in this amazing upper world.

Eliza pulled off her white gloves and drew up a chair near the desk. "Louise is out," said Arlen.

"Naturally. My saying that I'm coming means nothing to her if she has something better to do. How is the job going?"

"Not bad really—when I get it straightened out. I'm going to business school. Stenography," she said, smiling. "Is something every secretary should know."

Eliza offered cigarettes. "It's something every poor relation should know. I'm a poor relation. Did you know that?" She asked quite gaily. "I'm Louise's cousin. I live with my uncle and aunt."

"When I meet new people," said Arlen, "my imagination immediately makes up stories about them."

"Which aren't far wrong, I'll wager," said Eliza. "You know that Fanny is scheming and selfish, that Toby is the last word as a lover and that Henry Paine is the proper escort for a poor relation."

Let's go in the drawing-room and have some tea."

As Arlen passed a cup of tea to Eliza, she said, "I suppose they're wondering about me, too, and thinking the worst. My being here is dramatic and unusual. When Renny suggested it to me, I was so desperate I could have done anything I had run away then."

Eliza's brown eyes were warm and friendly. "You were lucky to fall into such masterly hands. Nobody but Fanny recognized you. She's a snob and she hates to have Toby meet a new pretty girl. She knows she has to go through all the old scenes again. Fanny is one of those impossible mothers who thinks they are keeping you from being their son's pals. If Toby ever marries, it will be the death of her. She couldn't share him with any woman." She sipped her tea thoughtfully and took a dainty cake. "Now you know all about them, Arlen. They're selfish. They're all right and good fun if you don't get too involved. One would think that Louise would take Allison since she'll probably never have any children of her own."

"Who is Allison?" Arlen asked simply.

"My dear, she's Renny's daughter. Didn't you know?"

The large white room seemed to close in on Arlen then. Her hand trembled. She felt as if struck. She lowered her eyes quickly, pulling a polite veil over them. His daughter! Renny—married! No it couldn't be! "Is Christa—his wife?" she asked in a voice so far away it could not be heard.

SYNOPSIS

Arlen Leads, a beautiful, sensitive girl of 21, leaves her Russian, Maryland, home after her father's marriage to a pretty girl—only three years her senior. What means Arlen must be known. Her stepmother, Karen, is spending the money her father's father-in-law had given her to start a new business. Arlen is placed in a rooming house. There she meets tall, handsome Renny. He is a lawyer, detained at Ocean City investigating the affairs of a 40-year-old Eliza Winslow, who refuses to return as active head of his prosperous business. Arlen is placed in a rooming house. CHAPTER IV

Renny sank back on the soft divan, puffing on his pipe. He was so proud of Arlen, proud of her clear definite beauty that Toby's glowing glances in her direction enraged him. In this group of people, he knew well her beauty stood out as clear as crystal. The severity of her plain back dress made it all the more vivid. In her excitement, her eyes were warmly golden, her tanned face and neck were stained with color, and her hair seemed unusually bright. All at once he hated himself for bringing her here. He hated to have Arlen cast her lot with people as selfish and as calculating as Fanny Sanner, who reminded him of a brilliantly painted mummy; with Louise, who could love no one; with Toby, whose youth and charm and attentions would make her love him, as so many women had loved him, and lose him and watch him go back as he always did, to the unbreakable will of his mother.

Of them all, only Richard and Eliza had something stable to offer. Renny hoped that Arlen and Eliza would be friends. Eliza belonged here no more than Arlen belonged, but the tide of circumstance and reality kept her here though she had tried several times to escape. Canadiens Beat Hawks; Americans Turn Back Wings

Flying Frenchmen Score 2-1 Victory Over Chicago Ice-men Before 12,000 Fans—Dave "Sweeney" Schirmer Nets Both Goals in New York's Win Over Detroit, 2-0

By A. P. HILFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Stand up and cheer a long cheer for Chicago's hockey fans, the most faithful the ice game is likely to come upon for many a day. Their Black Hawks are trailing in the National Hockey League, having won only one game in nine starts, yet have been named Chicagoans go in droves to see them play.

There were 12,000 in their seats Sunday night to see the Hawks take another beating. This time it was Montreal Canadiens who beat them 2-1 in their first meeting of the season. Four other N.H.L. cities—Toronto, Montreal, New York and Detroit—mustered 30,000 of the faithful to witness four other week-end contests.

There were only 4,000 at the Forum to see Montreal Maroons win their second game, a 3-2 victory over New York Americans. Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Canadiens, 4-2, Saturday night before 9,400. New York Rangers and Boston Bruins played a 2-2 tie before 9,000. New Yorkers and 8,500 Detroiters saw Americans beat their Red Wings, 2-0, Sunday night. None of the results affected the league standing.

SCORES BOTH GOALS
Sweeney Schirmer, the Calgary left wing, had a lot to do with Americans' win over Detroit. He scored both the goals on passes from Lorne Carr and Art Chapman, the first while Eddie Goodfellow, Detroit's defenseman, was on the penalty bench. The Canadian section, leaders might have left Montreal with a tie, but for Jimmy Ward and Alex Connell. Ward scored a lucky goal in the third that gave Maroons the victory, while Connell scored a goal performed brilliantly to hold the New Yorkers out for the remainder of the game, except for Schirmer's score.

BARNETT HITS UP 259 SCORE

Gloucester Cricketer Makes Double Century for M.C.C. Against Queensland

BRISBANE, Australia, Nov. 30.—Charles Barnett, hard-hitting Gloucestershire player, made sure of a place on England's team to meet Australia in the first cricket test match starting Friday when he hit up 259 runs out of M.C.C.'s second innings' total of 441 for three wickets against Queensland today. The English team was dismissed for 275 runs in its first turn at the wickets, Queensland replying with 243.

With seven wickets to fall the touring team is 42 runs ahead. The match continues tomorrow.

Barnett was ably seconded by E. F. Fane, of Kent, who made 112. The pair put on 285 runs for the first wicket in less than four hours, a record for M.C.C. teams against Queensland. On a wicket that slightly favored spin bowling, Barnett lashed out making most of his runs with flashing off drives and square cuts. Hitting at the rate of almost a run a minute the Gloucester man knocked out two sixes and thirty-nine fours. Fane's strokes included thirteen fours.

Barnett's double century far exceeded the best previous individual innings by an M.C.C. player against Queensland. Until today Pat Hendren, Middlesex star, held the honor with 168 runs scored in the 1924-25 season.

Rugby Stars Are Out of Line-Ups

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Three of the United Kingdom's greatest rugby players suffered through week-end games and as a result England and Wales will be weakened for the international match between the two countries scheduled for Twickenham, January 6.

Cliff Jones, Cambridge University and Wales stand-off halfback, suffered a fractured collarbone and Wilfred Waller, another Cambridge man and Welsh wing three-quarter, strained a knee ligament. Prince A. Orlowski, fleet Oxford and England winger, suffered a recurrence of an injury to a thigh muscle. He is not likely to play in the varsity match, December 8, but every effort will be made to make him fit for the international encounter in the New Year.

Southeastern Grid Teams in Line for Rose Bowl Tussle With Huskies

SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—Either Alabama or Louisiana State was the way the Rose Bowl situation looked in Seattle today.

Some time this week, possibly, Wednesday, Ray Eckmann, University of Washington athletic director, will name the opponent for the Huskies in the Pasadena New Year's Day football game.

He was on his way South today to confer with Stanford or South-east opposition. He will make the announcement in Los Angeles, he said.

If a school other than Alabama or Louisiana State is named it will be a big surprise to close friends of Eckmann.

Before he left yesterday, Eckmann intimated that the contenders had narrowed down to the two Southeastern teams which have impressive records of no defeats and a tie each.

Lawson Little Gives Important Advice to Golfers—Wrists Must Remain Cocked During the First Stage of the Swing

By LAWSON LITTLE
Contrary to the common belief that the impact position should be the same as when the player is addressing the ball, the hands and body should be advanced in the direction of the hole slightly more during the moment of impact than at the more or less stationary position of address.

Let me say right here that I am not advocating any kind of a sway and, in fact, believe that a sway is the ruin of many a golf shot.

But it must be understood that the downswing is made with much more force than the backswing, and this force naturally makes the body lean slightly more towards the hole than it is at any other time during the swing. Again, this comes about by the exertion used in speeding the clubhead up in anticipation of hitting the ball.

Big Race Saturday

SAN MATEO, Cal., Nov. 30.—Presence of a speedy array of sprinters led Bay Meadows track officials to express belief today the American record of 1:09 1/5 for six furlongs may be shattered Saturday in the $5,000 Burlington Handicap.

Probable starters for the week's outstanding race include Alvisio, holder of the track record of 1:09 4/5; Ariel Cross and Uppermost.

Lawson Little Gives Important Advice to Golfers—Wrists Must Remain Cocked During the First Stage of the Swing

By LAWSON LITTLE
Contrary to the common belief that the impact position should be the same as when the player is addressing the ball, the hands and body should be advanced in the direction of the hole slightly more during the moment of impact than at the more or less stationary position of address.

Let me say right here that I am not advocating any kind of a sway and, in fact, believe that a sway is the ruin of many a golf shot.

But it must be understood that the downswing is made with much more force than the backswing, and this force naturally makes the body lean slightly more towards the hole than it is at any other time during the swing. Again, this comes about by the exertion used in speeding the clubhead up in anticipation of hitting the ball.

WRISTS REMAIN COCKED

Now comes the hands and wrists. They have remained inactive since making the last movement—that completed the backswing—the cocking of the wrists. So far, in the downswing they have carried the clubhead towards the ball only because they themselves have been brought towards the ball by the action of the body and the pulling down of the left arm. The wrists are still cocked so the hands are much closer to the ball than the clubhead. With the right elbow in close to the side, the swing is a compact one and the player is ready to unleash the power in the wrist-sock at the ball.

When the clubhead has completed about half of the down swing, the wrist-sock begins. It is important to notice at this point that the body has come at least to the impact point and usually beyond it. In that the left hip is a little more advanced towards the hole and turned more to the left. The right heel is just off the ground, leaving the right foot digging into the ground so as to give a brace from which the big muscles in the back and legs can act.

WRISTS PARTIALLY COCKED
The wrists complete their work so quickly that proper timing is extremely difficult unless the ball is contacted just before the uncock is finished. This is comparable to a boxer's punch. He can hit his opponent much harder if contact is made just before the bend in the arm becomes a straight arm. Going back to golf, when the ball is struck just before the completion of the uncocking of the wrists, it is easy to see that the hands will be slightly ahead of the clubhead.

With the hands leading to the clubhead into the ball, there is no danger of that gross error of hitting too quickly with the hands from the top of the swing. All tendency towards scooping the ball up is eliminated and the ball is struck downward correctly. The result is a well-controlled shot with the proper height and plenty of backspin.

POINT GREY SQUAD COMING HERE WITH GREAT REPUTATION

Students Will Present One of the Best Line-Ups in History of Institution Against Victoria "Rep" Team on Saturday Afternoon at Macdonald Park—Game to Start at 2:45

Varsity Thunderbirds, rated by oval ball critics as the smartest fifteen to wear the colors of the University of British Columbia in the last ten years, will go on exhibition Saturday at Macdonald Park when they battle the Victoria "Rep" squad in the second game of the McKee Cup series. The fixture will commence at 2:30 o'clock with C. E. Ley taking the whistle.

Members of the Victoria Rugby Union, at their meeting yesterday evening in The Colonist boardroom, added another attractive game to the card when they made plans for an exhibition game between the point high school all-star fifteen and a "rep" squad from the intermediate league. The match will be played on the lower pitch at the enclosure and will start at 1:15 o'clock. Airm LeMarquand will officiate.

Victors over Vancouver by a 11-0 score in their initial clash, Varsity will be slight favorites to take the week-end series on Saturday's battle.

The students have a fast, smooth-functioning fifteen with speed as its biggest asset.

Victoria, present holders of the coveted trophy, will be in the best of condition for the impending cup struggle and feel confident of turning the tables on the huddly-tufted Thunderbirds. They have been training for weeks under the watchful eyes of Coach Charlie Morton and will certainly be in shape to go "all out" against the invaders.

BIRD AT FULLBACK
Johnny Bird, rated as the most brilliant fullback in British Columbia, will be on the last line of defence for the Varsity. Bird learned his rugby at the Shikshan Lake school and since playing on the Mainland has developed into a clever oval ball player.

The three-quarter line will include "Bird" LeMarquand, former University School star on one wing, and Howie McPherson, British Columbia sprint star and member of the Canadian track and field squad at the Olympic Games this year. The inside will be Lyle Wilson, former Vancouver High School star and track performer who has been seen in action at Macdonald Park here, and Harry Lundsen, sensational freshman and former Vancouver High School player.

Letters to Editor

THE "REP" RUGBY SQUAD
Sir:—The attention of the selectors of the Victoria "rep" Rugby fifteen has been directed by many telephone calls, to the Observation Car in the Sunday issue of your paper, and an comment in J.D. under the heading "The Rep Rugby Squad."

"J.D." says in part "selectors of the Victoria 'rep' Rugby fifteen, have forgotten that the Navy team as the Navy is in the season league. When they made their selections they only considered one sailor on the squad. The Navy record speaks for itself and the boys from Esquimalt surely deserve much more consideration than the selection committee gave them. The sailors have won from the Scottish and the J.B.A. by a score of 10-0, and although I have not seen any of the teams in action this season, I am given to understand the Navy has the best 'pack' in the city without any argument and has a single forward has even been considered."

"J.D." then goes on to say that "there is a 'hitter' in the wood pile somewhere. When the 'rep' squad it is usually right to pick the players who are showing up the best in the league matches and are willing to turn out for 'rep' workouts, but it does not appear that the committee did this. They could have or there would be at least five or six Navy players on the team."

Might we bring to the attention of J.D. and to any of our readers who are interested that the selection committee were unanimous in the selection of nineteen men—Navy 5, Scottish 6, Bays 4. These names were published in the local papers on or about November 10 and owing to the fact that the committee were told that the Navy men would be out of town another J.B.A. backfield man to fill up the team. So you see that the forgotten men were not forgotten and before "J.D." makes these rash statements he should at least look up the facts from the files of his own newspaper.

Perhaps a point that he does not know, though two minutes on the phone to any of the three selectors would put him right is that the date, early November, four of the five Navy men selected were to have been out of town at the time of the first game of the McKee Cup series here. This condition has since been changed but in the meantime the rep team has been out for four nights each week and unless some of the remaining men are injured as in the case of one player who hurt his hip when he fell on the sidewalk, the selection committee was fortunately able to call on a Navy backfield man to fill his place. I feel that it is a pity that it is being mentioned in changing our final selection.

Further, "J.D." says that he has not seen any of the teams in action this season. We are very sorry because if he had he might be able to help the selection committee in making their final selection by his very thoughtful comments.

The selection committee would like to state that though in the past the Victoria Rugby selection committee has made or less taken the comments, good or bad, in silence, we feel on this occasion that it is due the public and the Navy players that the true facts of the situation be brought to the public notice and "J.D." in particular.

Also even though "J.D." thinks that U.B.C. pos called the Thunderbirds may hand the locals a trimming, we feel sure that our "rep" team is quite capable of giving any visiting team all the opposition they wish, so you may expect a fast and open game when the two teams meet at Macdonald Park at 2:45 p.m., December 3.

Down in the National Hockey League cellar, a position they find it increasingly strange after seasons of riding the heights, Toronto Maple Leafs are moving frantically to bolster their puck squad. Five straight losses spurred Connie Smythe to seek new hockey ivory for his shattered troops, and this trio were called up from Syracuse Stars to help fill the breach left by King Clancy's retirement. They are Jack Hamilton, former Hamilton Tiger amateur star, Gordie Drillon, who played for Toronto, and Art Jackson, brother of the "Busher," who was sent to the Leafs farm team earlier this year for more seasoning.

Jane Dixon Says:

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF THE FORTUNATE HALF OF THE WORLD'S WIVES SUDDENLY WERE MADE TO EXCHANGE PLACES WITH THE UNFORTUNATE HALF?

One-half of the world's wives don't know how the other half is living. What would happen if the fortunate half of the world's wives suddenly were made by Fate to exchange places with the unfortunate half? There would be worse than weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Outside of every Domestic Relations and Divorce Court there'd be a queue of an infuriated femininity a mile long, each integral link awaiting its chance to tell it to the judge and jury. The honorable institution of marriage would be riven like a sand rock in an earthquake.

You top half wives, what would you do if you were this wife from the under section?

Dear Miss Dixon: What can I do? What must I do? My husband refuses to give me a dime. He leaves me here week after week with a little girl fourteen and a half years old. He would not accept work here near his home if it were offered to him.

Nobody Can Boss Him
His proud boast always has been "No one can boss me." The only work he'll do is supervising the other man's work. Poor laborers! Stand by and tell them what to do.

Wages from such a job will not support a family. After he pays his board on the job, buys what he wants to satisfy his appetite, there's nothing left but empty pockets.

Much of the time he is out of work altogether. When he gets work that looks as though it might be steady he buys a new car. The last one he bought was a sedan, and when he drove it home he found his daughters of sixteen and twelve were in rags and hungry.

The company took the car away from him after three payments—because he was out of work and couldn't meet the fourth.

I have one daughter married, one working, one in ninth grade at school.

For two years their father had no work except for P.W.A. now and then. My people had to help me and the children.

Now he seems to have a fairly steady job sixty miles from here. He is paying on a small motor truck. Three weeks ago he bought a new car. He always will have a new car, whether his family has clothes, food, coal or not. He hasn't bought anything by way of furnishings for the house in twenty years.

Husband Is Deceitful
Saturday night he arrives home with a few groceries—things that strike his fancy, never substantial foodstuffs. Often he brings nothing. He plays the radio given me by my daughter until midnight, then goes to bed and sleeps all day Sunday. He pays no attention to personal cleanliness and his clothes are a sight. He leaves early Monday morning, to be gone until another dreaded Saturday. We can die of starvation or be ill or killed for all he cares.

I do all the work in my home, cooking, sewing, scrubbing, washing. We built the house with money my parents left me. He got a mortgage on it, but never paid the interest, and we'd have lost it had it not been for a government loan.

I've worked so hard to keep my self-respect, my soul and body, my children together. Now I'm in wretched health. I'm afraid to stay here alone with my fourteen-year-old daughter. My husband won't consent to my moving elsewhere, says he can't pay the rent. You'll always find money in his pocket while I haven't pennies to buy a stamp. And, Jane, he's the sweetest, kindest, talking man you ever heard when any of my people are around. He's the truest, most two-faced man I've ever known.

What on earth can I do?—J.M.C.

Answer: Inform your husband that unless he makes some decent provision for you and the child you will take the matter to court for judgment. And not only mean what you say, but do what you say. The only argument to use with this sort of brute is force.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Rejoicing on the Green Meadows
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

You may be sure that Sammy Jay and Blacky the Crow had no time in spreading the news that Bowser the Hound had been caught in one of the traps set by Farmer Brown's Boy for Old Man Coyote. It was the greatest piece of news since the coming of Buster Bear to the Green Forest. And somehow almost everyone seemed to think it was good news. Peter Rabbit hurried back to the dear Old Brier Patch to tell Mrs. Peter, and he was so excited he could hardly talk straight.

"I guess he won't ever chase us any more! I hope he can't ever walk on that foot again," he concluded.

"Oh, Peter, you know perfectly well you don't wish anything of the kind; that would be too dreadful!" cried tender-hearted Little Mrs. Peter, who, you know, used to be Miss Fuzztail.

Peter looked a wee bit ashamed. "Well, anyway, I hope every time he gets to thinking about hunting one of his legs pain him so that he just won't feel like hunting any more. I guess that now it is going to be perfectly safe to go up to Farmer Brown's garden whenever I'd like a taste of fresh cabbage this very minute. My, but I'm glad that dog has got into trouble! I wonder if Old Man Coyote had anything to do with it?"

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Peter," said Mrs. Peter in her severest manner. "I am sure I don't wish anybody hurt, and you don't either. If you stayed at home in the Old Brier Patch as you ought to, Bowser never would bother you, and you know it. You just keep away from Farmer Brown's garden or you may get into worse trouble than Bowser has. For my part, I wish that if someone had to be caught it had been Old Man Coyote instead of Bowser. With him out of the way I would worry a lot less when you are away."

"Pooh!" retorted Peter. "There is nothing to worry about. Hi there, Jimmy Skunk! Have you heard the news?"

Jimmy Skunk, who happened along just then, grinned.

"Do you suppose there is anybody who hasn't? That dog howled loud enough, goodness knows! Serves him right, and I'm glad of it. I only wish that it had been Farmer Brown's Boy himself who had been caught. Perhaps, then, he wouldn't be so keen about setting traps," replied Jimmy. "I'm on my way to the Snelling Pool to see how they feel about it over there. Come on over," he added.

"Is the way clear?" asked Peter anxiously.

"Of course," replied Jimmy. "If it wasn't I wouldn't have asked you. Besides, you're safe enough as long as you stay with me. You ought to know that by this time."

So in spite of all that Mrs. Peter could say, Peter went with Jimmy Skunk to the Snelling Pool. They found everybody there very much excited. They could talk of nothing else but how Bowser the Hound had

PLATFORM OF MAYOR GIVEN

David Leeming Completing Campaign Arrangements In Mayoralty Contest

Alderman Andrew McGavin, who is contesting the mayoralty with Mayor David Leeming, will open his appeal to the public over the radio this evening and will hold a general meeting in the City Temple on December 7. Mayor Leeming has not yet completed campaign arrangements. His platform centres about the question of finance.

Mayor Leeming made the following statement yesterday: "My main object is to preserve solvency of the city and keep taxation as low as possible under the circumstances. Victoria's future lies in her development as a tourist and residential city, and I shall do all I can, as in the past, to develop this line of activity."

"According to figures compiled by the comptroller, Victoria made no cash provision from 1931 to 1936 for the sum of $3,353,800. In order not to increase taxes beyond the ability to pay, we had to resort to the refunding of serial debentures, to borrowing from the Government and the bank, and to taking profits from the sinking fund to cover the $3,353,800."

AID NECESSARY

"In 1936 in order to keep taxation down as far as possible, we did not levy for 1937. This was covered by not levying $495,000 capital payments on debt, by anticipating a $100,000 Provincial Government loan on account of relief, and by using a nest egg of $72,725. We shall not be able to finance for 1937 and will either have to get aid from our bondholders, by readjustment of our capital payments and reduction of interest, or go bankrupt."

"Jules Fortin, representing Toronto bond interests, is expected here today as the result of delegates' visit to Toronto and London on the debt refunding issue. On his findings and the action of bondholders' committees in Toronto and London will hinge the question of our solvency or otherwise."

PAST ELECTIONS

Mayor Leeming was elected at the head of a field of five in the 1931 election. On that occasion he polled 2,498 votes against 1,774 for E. B. Andrews, 1,524 for Frank LeRoy, 1,084 for E. S. Woodward and 47 for W. H. Sargent.

In 1932 he again defeated Mr. Andrews by a vote of 3,051 to 2,789. The following year he was returned by acclamation, and then defeated W. H. Sargent by a vote of 3,725 to 401 in 1934. He was returned by acclamation last year.
